SAINT BARTH GOURMET FESTIVAL Gustavia, Saint Barth's

THE EVENT: The fifth annual showcase November 2-5, 2017, will fly in big-hitter French chefs such as Éric Fréchon, who earned three Michelin stars at Paris' Epicure, to cook alongside island talents. The gastronomical epicenter of the West Indies feels more like the South of France than an island in the Caribbean, which measures just 8 square miles but boasts 80-plus restaurants with deep wine lists. Throughout the weekend choose to attend eight-course dinners, formal cocktail parties, and/or casual picnics on the beach. Dinner reservations are essential.

THE SCENE: A-listers, yachtsmen, moneyed eccentrics, beach-crazed Parisians on vacation.

GOOD TO KNOW: Book a villa through St. Barth Properties (from $2,870; stbarth.com). A private concierge arranges everything from airport or dockside pickup to beach club access and making otherwise impossible dinner reservations.
